INTERNATIONAL NEWSLETTER OF THE TAX STAMP INDUSTRY

A UNIQUE NEWS SERVICE FOR TAX STAMP SPECIFIERS, USERS AND SUPPLIERS

Excise duty on tobacco and liquor is an important source of revenue for governments. This income is, however, under threat from the illicit trade – whether in the form of contraband and/or counterfeiting. Governments, which are losing billions each year in lost revenues, can protect themselves and this valuable source of revenue by deploying tax stamps as a vehicle for tax collection and proof of payment. And the same vehicle, in providing proof of authenticity, also protects the interests of manufacturers.

Tax Stamp News, published by Reconnaissance International, is a subscription-based monthly newsletter that provides in-depth coverage and analysis on solutions, technologies and alternatives for effective tax stamp programmes. It is accompanied by a website providing frequent updates along with news on tenders, regulatory updates and other data and information relating to tax stamps.

Between them, the newsletter and portal provide a complete one-stop source of news, information, and analysis for all those involved in tax stamp programmes – be this specification and procurement, production, implementation or enforcement.
